Rich,

I was having a tech cover the day shift on this Saturday & Sunday. This person would be at the command post from 7am until 7pm with the exception of when Palmeris deliver water to fill up the water buffalos at the houses. Usually this operation takes approximately one hour in duration to fill the tanks. The day shift person would be gone from the CP for this time period and be at Carter Rd, In the past this is how it has been done.

Joanna thinks that your intention was to have 1 person on day shift be at the command post from 7am to 7 pm and not leave and have a second person come in to escort the tanker during the fill ups of the water buffalo's.

If Joanna's impression is the correct one let me know and I will just have a tech here from 7am until 7pm at the CP and I will come in to meet the tanker.

Thanks
